OVERVIEW

The Hand Wash sign labels the hand-wash station on the outside of the Portland Loo, where users find the pushbutton and the basin. It is made from 1/16" Rowmark ADA blue, with the words "HAND WASH" UV printed as raised, tactile white letters and a line of clear Grade 2 braille below.

Because the letters and braille can be read by touch, users with low or no vision can locate the station on their own. The sign matches the color and style of the Loo's other ADA signage, so the whole restroom reads as one consistent set.

KEY FEATURES

01 Readable by touch

Raised letters and clear Grade 2 braille let users find the hand-wash station without sight.

03 Sized for the panel

A slim 9-3/4" x 1-3/4" format fits above the pushbutton on the hand-wash panel.

02 High contrast

White characters on Rowmark ADA blue are easy to read in daylight and under the Loo's lighting.

04 Matches the Loo's signage

Same ADA blue and lettering as the All-User tactile placard and sticker.

REPLACEMENT TIP Signs on the outside of the Loo take the most abuse. If the braille or raised letters are worn, scratched or tagged, replace the sign so it stays readable by touch, and order the All-User placard and sticker at the same time to keep the set matched.
